

James Daly Memorial Lecture

Redevelopment at 10 Trinity Square, London

Tuesday 11th March 2014

Room 281, DIT Bolton Street

Reception: 18.00, Lecture 18.30

10 Trinity Square was opened by David Lloyd George, then the British Prime Minister, in 1922. It is best known as being the former headquarters of the Port of London Authority. It overlooks the River Thames at Tower Hill, in the southeastern corner of the City of London and is one of London's most important historic buildings. The building was purchased by Reignwood in 2010 in order to re-develop the building as a 5-star hotel and luxury apartments.

Barrett Mahony are the project civil and structural engineers acting on behalf of the design and build contractor and this presentation explores the challenges and complex engineering issues faced during the re-development of this Grade II listed building.

Speakers:

- Roger Tegart, BScEng MIStructE CEng, Associate Director, Barrett Mahony
- Owen Carroll, BE (Hons) MSc DIC MIEI, Design Engineer, Barrett Mahony
